Supplementary Election – no contest

Friday 10 May, 2019: Kangaroo Island Council Mayor, Michael Pengilly, advises that Rosalie Chirgwin and Peter Tiggemann have been provisionally elected to the Kangaroo Island Council.

Because the Council received two Nominations only, (to fill two vacant positions) there will be no Ballot Draw and no Supplementary Election.

The Supplementary Election nomination period has been completed as the Council received the two nominations before the deadline at 12 noon on Friday, 10 April.

The Supplementary Election process called for nominations to replace Elected Members Larry Turner and Sharon Kauppila, who both resigned after a few months into the term, earlier this year.

All going well, and the Electoral Commission confirming the results, the provisionally Elected Members will be sworn in at the June Council meeting.

Mayor Michael Pengilly said, “it is wonderful to see local residents taking up the challenge to participate in local government and to contribute to our local community and Island.

“Given there were only two Nominations, this will save the ratepayers a considerable amount of money.

“We have much to do and I think we have a great team to make a positive difference”.
